Camaron Corr Takes the Challenge and is Passing It On!

Dallas, TX, April 26, 2011 — EvolvHealth, LLC announced today that seasoned entrepreneur and top-earning network marketer Camaron Corr will be joining Evolv and the e84 Challenge. Camaron brings experience, credentials, energy and enthusiasm to the e84 Challenge. Having built an organization of hundreds of thousands of people, and helping many people become Millionaires along the way, Camaron is now excited to turn his passion, energy and focus to something very important to him... health!

“I was invited to take the e84 challenge out of a concern for how heavy I had gotten. I was sent the products back in November at a low point in my health. I was weighing 269 lbs and was wearing a 42-44” waist pants, feeling lethargic and tired all the time. I had an epiphany when my fiancé was folding a pair of my jeans realizing that there was no way that I had become that fat! I got on the e84 challenge and lost 30lbs in the first 84 days. I have now started my second e84 and have lost another 8lbs. I am currently at a 36 inch waist at 6’5” and have gotten a new wardrobe!” said Camaron.

“We are delighted to welcome Camaron to the Evolv family,” said Trey White, Co-founder and Chairman of EvolvHealth. “His leadership and passion will be of great benefit to all of our Members and the e84 Challenge. With Camaron on our team, I am confident we will reach our first goal of helping 8.4 Million People complete their e84 Challenge.”

“Camaron’s energy is infectious”, said CEO, Brent Hicks. “He is fun, positive and you can just tell being around him that he is going to change millions of lives with e84. Already, on his first day launching with Evolv, he qualified for our VIP trip to Cancun and qualified for our EVOLV Driven free Benz program. What an amazing leader and now, great friend!”
