

EvolvHealth Launches Partnership/Sponsorship Program for Athletes, Trainers, and Health Professionals

October 22, 2016 Dallas, TX — As part of the continuing mission to eradicate childhood malnutrition worldwide while helping millions to “Reboot” their health, EvolvHealth announced today the official launch of the Evolv Sports & Wellness Partners Network (ESWPN). The Program provides additional incentives and support for a variety of fitness and wellness professionals whose client base or network would benefit from the clean, nutritional support of the Evolv family of products. The Program has already received positive reviews from the ESWPN Partners involved in the Program’s beta-testing phase.

WHY PARTNER WITH EVOLV & ESWPN? — evolvhealth.com/eswpn

For independent health and fitness practitioners, income and service is typically limited to the amount of face-to-face time shared by pro & client. ESWPN introduces a more sustainable solution, allowing professionals to support their clients’ health even outside of session, as well as earn repeat income that pays even “off the clock.” Because all product transactions help support children in need, both pro and client can participate in changing the world through the EvolvHealth Social Business 3.0™ model.

Says ESWPN Program Coordinator and former competitive tennis player Shane Johnson, “With ESWPN, health and fitness pros can seamlessly incorporate Social Business into their existing practice, offering better product to their clients and assisting in nourishing children in need around the world. This is an incredible benefit and reason to choose Evolv for themselves and their clients. Nobody else in the health industry is offering anything like it on this scale.”

THE GAME-CHANGING SOCIAL BUSINESS 3.0 MODEL — evolvhealth.com/buy1nourish2

EvolvHealth is the first-to-market globally to adopt the previously only theoretical “Social Business 3.0” model, empowering individuals to effect global change in a way that institutions and charities working alone cannot match. The Evolv mission is to eradicate global childhood malnutrition, which takes the lives of approximately 6 million children annually. Says EvolvHealth Co-Founder Trey White, “We are at the forefront of a massive shift in the industry, in the way people think about doing business. Our program works for all who participate, from the consumer needing to get healthier and maybe lose a few pounds, to the children in need who are being given new hope for life from the Buy 1, Nourish 2™ giving, to the champions of our cause who are rewarded financially and experientially for their efforts. ”

— more —

ABOUT EVOLVHEALTH — evolvhealth.com

EvolvHealth is a wellness company committed to addressing global problems through the power of its unique Social Business 3.0™ business model. It offers proprietary, effective, natural health solutions to the most common health concerns and generates support for eradicating childhood malnutrition through sales of these products through its Buy 1, Nourish 2™ giving initiative. Preliminary results of product research now being conducted point to noteworthy benefits in the areas of athletic performance and recovery.

The EvolvHealth Customer-oriented business model is marketed via a collective of individual business owners as part of a HOPE Movement, which welcomes any who are interested in championing the cause, regardless of prior business experience. The company is headquartered in Dallas, Texas. For more information, visit their website at www.evolvhealth.com/hopemovement.

CONTACT INFORMATION

Shane Johnson
Sports, Wellness & Recognition Coordinator
(888) 280-9555
sjohnson@evolvhealth.com

EvolvHealth makes no medical, healing or curative claims about its products, nor guarantees regarding levels of financial success on the part of its Members. Health and income results will vary based on many factors, including individual effort.

#

